

It's an extreme honor to receive this award. I have traveled to over 300 cities visiting thousands of organizations, and National Safe Place is one of my favorites. My heart glows wherever I see a Safe Place sign. As homelessness continues to grow, providing support for youth is crucial to any successful strategy to end homelessness. Because of the pandemic, none of us have been able to travel like we used to, so Invisible People's tenth-anniversary road trip was postponed, but in 2022 we are hitting to the road and hope to visit as many of you as possible. Thanks so much for working so hard to end youth homelessness and for this wonderful award.
